Sleeping Trains (Best for Traveling along the River Nile):

Regarding the segment Cairo-Luxor-Aswan, this site covers the Express, Fast and Turbine trains but the sleeping trains are operated by ERNST Egypt or Watania Sleeping Trains.

2-beds folded

Sleeping Trains is a comfortable and a secured way with excellent service to travel between Cairo and the cities in the Nile valley, Luxor and Aswan. There are day-time trains for country-side enjoyment and over-night trains to save the time by traveling at night. All trains stop at El Giza station before arriving at Cairo Ramses station. It is better to plan your journey from Cairo Ramses station since it is the main hub of trains and maintains better communication and food services. The sleeper trains run between Cairo and Aswan. Leaving from Rameses Station in Cairo, this train makes few stops: Giza Station, Assyuit, Luxor, and Aswan. Cabins are either single or double. There are 2-berth compartments and higher price single-berth compartments. The traveller can share 2-berth compartments with another passenger of the same sex. The sleeper train has an added attraction, the club car, a comfortable Dining/drink car with entertainment facilities It is decorated with wood paneling and brass lights. The fare includes two meals available, dinner and breakfast. Alexandria-Cairo railway has no sleeping trains due to the short distance.

Getting to Your Hotel from the Airport

There are a lot of ways you can get to your hotel from the airport, after all “all the roads leads to Rome” or Aswan in this case, you can catch a bus from the airport to get you to the hotel. It’s almost takes 34 mints or less.

Or you get a Private Limousine (available by the bunch in the Airport) but if something went wrong you won’t have a reliable customer support to go to. (7 persons Van) for a number of reasons that includes reliability, comfort, cost and more. This would be most efficient if you are going to split the fare with 6 others in case you are a group with the Aswan Airport Shuttle.

In case you arrive to Cairo International Airport (CAI)

There are 4 ways to arrive Aswan from Cairo International Airport (CAI):

Flight trap: it'll take 1 hour and 25 mints

Cost: 2754 L.E

Bus trap: it'll take 23 hours

Cost: 1600 L.E

Car Trap: it'll take 23 hours and 30 mints

Cost: 1806 L.E

Train trap: it'll take 18 hours

Cost: 800 L.E

Please schedule your trip in advance as these cross city trips needs preparations with the captain, as it's not common for this type of travel to be done on the fly.

Remember to give yourself a leg room after the arrival of your flight to Cairo at least half an hour or more if you need to. Your ETA will be around 3 Hours so plan on a 20min rest midway with the captain.
